VOL. VI. NO. 25.

CHICAGO, TUESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1900.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

HORSES AT ST. LOUIS.

Chris Schawacker, the Fifth Ward Republican boss, will campaign a small but select string of thoroughbreds at the Fair Grounds next season, headed by Hilee, a speedy four-year-old bay gelding by Himyar—Grace Lee. Mr. Schawacker bought Hilee for a fancy price at Chicago last fall after the gelding had beaten Fred T. Wood's fast filly May Beach. W. H. Barrett, who sold Hilee to Mr. Schawacker, has since endeavored to buy the gelding back again, offering $2,500 for him, but his new owner says the gelding is not for sale. Schawacker is wintering Hilee at Dr. Crowley's farm in St. Louis County, and says that the gelding looks 50 per cent. better than he did when he was turned out of training last fall. Hilee is entered in all the sprinting stakes to be run at the Fair Grounds this season, and will doubtless be heard from favorably before the local racing season of 1900 is very far advanced. Hilee's caliber as a racing tool was proven when he beat George Krats, Duke of Middleburg, and King Carnival in a six furlong dash at the Fort Erie track last season. A horse that can beat these horses is good enough to win on any race track.

John S. Bratten has quite a string of thoroughbreds wintering at the old East St. Louis race track in charge of William Dickson, who formerly trained the Avondale stable for E. S. Gardner, Padrone. A five-year-old brown horse by Blue Eyes—Acacia, and Chorus Boy, a four-year-old chestnut gelding by Chorister—Vivid, are the best known horses in the string. Besides these, Mr. Dickson is handling three maiden three-year-olds, two by Tattler and one by The Bard; also a quartet of two-year-olds that Mr. Bratten purchased of A. J. Cassatt's agent at Philadelphia last fall. They were all sired by The Bard and are out of some of the best broodmares at Mr. Cassatt's farm.

Dr. F. W. Holtgrewe, of North St. Louis, is wintering a small string at the Fair Grounds. The best horse in his stable is Pinocchio, who ran a number of creditable races at the local track in 1898. This horse was never at himself last year, but his owner is confident that he has finally rounded to and will be a good horse this coming season. Pinocchio is now a five-year-old. He is by Panique—Minnie S., by Macaroon. Tommy Sayers is also wintering his string at the Fair Grounds. He has Barbee, a five-year-old brown gelding, by Barnes—Emma Kyle, and the useful little horse, Lee Bruno, who is now a four-year-old. Lee Bruno is a bay gelding by Free Knight—Maggie Merrill. Lew Marion is also at the local track with Chiffon, Annie, Oldfield and several other useful selling-platers. Andy Foster's horses, with the exception of Wiggins, who is at New Orleans, are wintering at the old East St. Louis race track.

Louis Lemp's crack filly, Lasso, has not grown much since she went into winter quarters last fall. Although rather small, Lasso has plenty of substance, and her tremendous turn of speed ought to enable her to win a lot of purses for Mr. Lemp this season. Wounded Knee, a grand looking dark bay colt, by Foul Shot—Valencia, in the Lemp-Crowley string, will probably receive a special "prep" for this year's St. Louis Derby, provided he does well between now and the time for taking him up. Wounded Knee showed enough in his few starts last season to justify his owners in waiting on him as long as they have. He is still a maiden, which will let him in the Derby at 97 pounds. Of course, it is rather early to be predicting the result of this year's St. Louis Derby, but all horsemen will admit that any fair sort of a horse has a chance to beat the best of stake horses at a mile and a half, provided they put enough weight on the stake horse and let the fair horse in with a feather on his back. For instance, take the case of Pink Coat and Plaudit. The latter tried to give Pink Coat twenty pounds and a beating in the St. Louis Derby of '98, and it is hardly necessary to add that he failed to turn the trick, Pink Coat winning cleverly.—St. Louis Republic.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

Starter Matt Byrnes has a string of four two-year-olds quartered at his home near the Month Park race track in New Jersey. They are an exceptionally good looking quartet, and when trainer W. W. Rogers takes up his residence at the old Clason Farm, recently purchased by M. Murphy, for whom Mr. Rogers trains, the Byrnes lot will be quartered there while they are being got ready for their spring engagements. The Byrnes four are composed of the following: Great American, ch. g. by Great Tom—Highland Belle; Tammany Chief, ch. c. by Iroquois—Great Annie; Miner Daly, b. g. by Mat; Byrnes—Iroquois, and Garter Ban, ch. f. by Golden Garter—Flora Ban. Great American is a splendid type of a young thoroughbred. He has great size and is finished off in perfect proportions. Tammany Chief also looks a racer. The filly, Garter Ban, shows good enough for any owner to go to the races with, and the trainer that fitted Salvador for the Suburban surely looks to have four good strings to his bow.

A dispatch from Lexington to the New York Sun says that J. B. Haggin, the millionaire New York and California turfman, will make Kentucky his home for half the year. Two hundred men have been employed making macadam roads, building summer houses, planting trees and beautifying the old Kenney place which Haggin has just added to Elmendorf by purchase. This place is the old Carter H. Harrison homestead, and the mansion, colonial in style, overlooks Elkhorn creek. The general outline of the house is to be retained, but its interior is to be made in keeping with the fancies of a man of millions. Haggin is a Kentuckian and married Miss Margaret Voorhies, of Versailles, one of Kentucky's most charming young women. The summer home here will put her within a short drive of her relatives in Woodford county. Elmendorf is now probably the leading thoroughbred breeding establishment in the state. Salvador is the premier stallion, while a fall score of imported horses like Order and Candemas are also in the stud. There are probably four hundred mares of the best breeding. Haggin will continue his Rancho del Paso stud in California.

Negotiations have been completed whereby the celebrated race horse The Bard, the property of Mr. A. J. Cassatt, Chesterbrook Farm, Pa., will make the season of 1900 at Colonel Milton Young's McGrathiana Stud. The Bard, accompanied by ten of the choicest bred matrons of the Chesterbrook Stud, will arrive in Kentucky about February 10.

Among the mares that will be shipped to McGrathiana will be the good racers and producers Heel and Toe, Rica, Water Lily, Maumee, Foxglove, Athalaris and War Dress. The destiny of great race horses and rivals on the turf is a singular thing. Tenny and Salvador, the bitterest of rivals, stood side by side at Rancho del Paso, and Tammany is under the same roof as his old foe Lamplighter. Now The Bard and his mightiest opponent, Troubadour, are to be stable companions at McGrathiana. The Bard should yet do well. There has never been a good race horse that stood at Colonel Young's establishment that has not been a successful sire.

Red Pirate was bumped at the start by Imperious, losing much ground, and was best by a considerable margin. Imperious ran a good race. Del Paso II. could never get up. Dexter Building, Suite 90, and will be prepared, on and after January 29, to furnish to its clients valuable inside racing information on new and novel lines and by methods never before attempted in this or any other country. So confident are we of our ability to do all that we claim

We send three entirely different wires, viz: No. 1. Our regular daily costing $1.00 per day; $5.00 per week. No. 2. A guaranteed special, naming jockey and average price honors before the race; charges, $1.00. No. 3. is our extra special, costing $2.00, in which we name the horse, one, two, three, or one, two as they finish, also names of jockeys and average prices. We call the attention of players at New Orleans and San Francisco to this advertisement. All moneys payable in advance and refunded if Nos. 2 and 3 specials are not winners. For further particulars
